Ocean Explorer Teddy Tucker and Bermuda Shipwrecks
Teddy Tucker, Bermudian and world class marine explorer, has been exploring the ocean's buried treasures since the late 1940's. During his decades-long career he discovered over 100 historic shipwrecks in Bermuda and was recognised worldwide in films, magazines, and as a consultant. The emerald studded 22 karat gold “Tucker Cross” was considered one of the most valuable pieces of sunken treasure ever found. It was discovered in 1955 and from the 1594 wreck of ‘San Pedro’ the Spanish galleon. In 1975, it was stolen and a replica left in its place. Still unsolved to this day, the crime remains one of our greatest unsolved mysteries.

Shipwreck Mix and Match
Follow a wreck dive with us here https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=V3D5_OApiZM&t=309s
On the left are photographs of three shipwrecks around Bermuda, and on the right are graphics of the original ships. Can you match the ship to its wreck?

Find and Clean your own Treasure
Teddy Tucker had an incredible eye as some of the treasures look like nothing more than a rock or a piece of seaweed at first glance. Think you would have been able to spot these treasures of the deep?
Collect as many old pennies as you can find. Then all you need is vinegar and table salt! Mix ¾ of a cup of Vinegar and three tablespoons together in a bowl until all the salt has dissolved. Then take one penny and dip it in half way for 10 seconds, do you see a difference? Try leaving them for 5 mins!